

“Hosank’s” membership agreement

You may join Hosank if you accept the following five points:

- 1) Any person wishing to become a member must agree with our fundamental ideas, vision, and the goals of our movement’s program. For this reason, one must read our program or manifesto (or both), which are available on our website. The supreme values of our movement are our nation, our fatherland, and independent statehood, and every member must place them above everything else. By joining our movement, each person must also understand that developing our movement and leading it to victory is the best way to serve our supreme values. For our movement to succeed, we must all stand on the same ideological ground and act as one unified body.
- 2) Members of the movement are obliged to respect one another. You must accept that the movement is authoritarian in structure and has a clear order. The movement has a Leader, who must respect the followers of the movement, and the followers must respect the Leader. The Leader is obliged to listen to all reasonable opinions and constructive criticism from the members, but the final decision must be made by the Leader, which the followers are bound to follow. Members must also faithfully carry out the tasks assigned by the Leader, as long as they are within their capacity, since this benefits the entire movement of which all members—including you—are a part. Major decisions concerning the movement must not be made without the permission of the Leader or leaders appointed by him. If we want the movement to advance, it must have a clearly organized structure and discipline.
- 3) Our movement is a legal political movement, and members must have exemplary conduct, staying away from immoral and criminal activities. Members must also avoid those who would try to provoke or damage our movement. You must be farsighted, patient, and determined—spiritually prepared for a long struggle—because under the banner of eternity our eyes are not fixed on the next year, the next election, or even the next decade, but on eternity itself.
- 4) As a member of the movement, you are obliged to maintain a proper and decent demeanor as much as possible. You will be part of and a representative of the movement, therefore it is important that by representing yourself properly, you also represent the movement properly.
- 5) Be ready to fight for the interests of the Armenian nation—actively contributing your share, however small, to the development of our movement. For individually we are nothing more than miserable electrons, but together we are Hosank.

Violation of any of these points may result in removal from the movement by order of the Leader or by a leader appointed by him.
